

Quincy Community Schools

The Board of Education for Quincy Community Schools is in search of a new superintendent. This is only the preliminary posting; a detailed profile of the ideal candidate will be added at a later date. We encourage interested applicants to refrain from applying until the profile is posted.

Founded in 1830, Quincy is a small, incorporated village in Branch County with a population of about 1,550. The area of the town is about 1.56 square miles and is just minutes to the I-69 corridor with US 12 running through the heart of the village. Quincy is located about 15 miles from the Michigan/Indiana border. The Quincy area is home to campgrounds and recreation. Marble Lake and Old Sauk Trail are located in the district. The cities of Kalamazoo and Lansing are both a one-hour drive away.

Quincy Community Schools is a public school located in the village. The district serves 1,100 students across three buildings: Quincy High School, Quincy Middle School, and Jennings Elementary School. With strong community support the district offers a wide variety of academic and extracurricular programs. Early College, dual enrollment, advanced placement courses, and CTE opportunities are staples at the high school.
